Sustainability and Responsible Use

As a community committed to responsible citizenship and environmental stewardship, parents are encouraged to guide their children in using and maintaining their books and uniforms with care. Keeping these resources clean, organised, and in good condition not only instils habits of responsibility and gratitude but also enables them to be reused by another child in the future.

By extending the life of books and uniforms, we collectively reduce waste, conserve valuable resources, and contribute towards a more sustainable future. Such thoughtful acts nurture empathy, kindness, and compassion, teaching our children that caring for the Earth and supporting others are integral aspects of good character and responsible living.
